Role: Associate Manager- Strategy & Operations

Reports to: Director

Location: New Delhi

About us: Image Foundry is a UK CGI studio- with major operations in Delhi- transforming the way people market properties and products with images, animations and Virtual Reality. Our 20+ years of industry experience means we can provide strategic guidance on the best way to use CGI to reach new customers on the right marketing channels and with the best mix of CGI marketing assets. To know more about us, check out our website.

About Role: The role will be focused in and around observing and reviewing the operational matters that have been identified in the business that need addressing and then working on solutions as to how we can best improve through to implementation and monitoring of those solutions. You will be working with the Directors to agree on what operational issues need to be addressed and come up with the ideas/solutions to address them.

Key responsibilities include:

- Business Analytics: You will be looking into current dynamic dashboards for production, sales and overall company metrics. Will have to generate/design periodic reports for various metrics.
- Automation: Using pre-existing CRM and Project Management software to automate various tasks and processes.
- Production Management: Review the current system that will maximise the operational efficiency of the India Production team, with consideration to workflow from the UK.
- Monitoring of all 'Live' projects and regular reporting on the status of those projects with relevant team members to ensure that potential project overruns are flagged up early and remedial measures can be taken.

- Designing Incentive Programs: You will be helping in the design of incentive programs for artists, and the account handling team using existing KPIs and developing new ones.
- Reviewing Current Structure: Review the structure, all roles and positions within the India team and look at what kind of structure and positions would work best for the business. It will be important to ensure that the wider team in the UK is also considered.
- Staff Reviews / Appraisals: You will be working with the Directors to identify and implement the best / most suitable staff review/appraisal process for the India team.
- Working with the India Studio Manager and UK Lead Artists to review the introduction of a new production pipeline where artists take on smaller parts of jobs based upon their skills e.g. modelling, texturing and lighting as specific tasks allocated to different artists on the same project.
- New Opportunities: Create a structure that allows some time for R&D into new ideas, business sectors, new techniques and development of those into our workflow. This will require you to work with the Lead Artist who will drive the new techniques-based ideas and also working the Operations Manager / Director in the UK for their input.
- Learnings: Create a system where a selection of projects are de-briefed on a regular basis and learnings applied to the business. The system needs to be robust so that actions decided as a result of the review are implemented into the workflow/procedures of the business.
- Development of Artists: Working with Lead Artist, Studio Manager, Production Coordinator and Operations Manager in the UK look at ways we can create opportunities to train and develop junior artists in the UK and India. Also, plan for the career development of artists.
- Training and Development: Review the training and development needs of the team that will help them develop and do their jobs better.
- Working with the India Studio Manager and UK Lead Artists to review the introduction of a new production pipeline where artists take on smaller parts of jobs based upon their skills e.g. modelling, texturing and lighting as specific tasks allocated to different artists on the same project.

- Working with the India Studio Manager and UK Lead Artists to create an overview of ‘best practice’ for artists that can be passed on to freelancers.
- Assisting the business in creating a culture of short but engaging meetings.
- Assist with any recruitment where necessary.

Who should apply?

- You are someone who is keen to solve complex problems, think analytically and have a foundational understanding of business operations and procedure.
- You have business analytical skills(excel, basic SQL etc) and are flexible to work in dynamic and cross-functional teams.