Locus Investment Group: Research Analyst Job Opening

Organization Overview

Locus is an investment partnership formed in 2007 that invests in the Indian public markets. The firm follows a value-oriented investment philosophy and invests across a wide range of industries with a long-term horizon. We typically invest in 15-20 companies with strong fundamentals, proven management and attractive growth characteristics. We seek to generate outstanding risk-adjusted returns for our investors and have delivered strong performance since our inception, consistently outperforming the market indices. The firm is based in New Delhi, and is looking to recruit a Research Analyst, as described below.

Research Analyst Position

This position is open to fresh graduates from any field of study. Your area of concentration is less important to us than your potential. While a financial background is not necessary, you should have an interest in studying businesses. This role is ideally suited for individuals with outstanding academic credentials, a strong work ethic, a willingness to learn and an interest in business/ investing. We are looking for candidates to be based in Delhi NCR.

As a new hire, you will learn a great deal about industries, companies, financial markets and investing. You will gain the skills and knowledge necessary to support our businesses, and you will receive the training and mentorship to help you prepare for the next chapter of your career. Our analysts gain access to a host of proprietary tools, internal knowledge and purchased resources, along with exposure to some of India's leading companies.

We believe the best kind of professional learning occurs in the workplace, on live projects. Our firm is small, and you will quickly become an integral member of the team with your own responsibilities, which usually include:

- Studying industries, performing market research and competitor landscaping
- Researching companies, reading their reports and financial statements
- Analyzing “special topics” of interest (e.g., economy, policy, disruption, corporate action)
- Preparing memos/presentations to summarize analysis and findings
- Monitoring of corporate news, specific sectors and companies
- Interacting with management and doing field research for potential investment
- Financial modelling, projection, sensitivity and valuation analyses
- Designing and executing projects of your own direction that help the firm’s objectives

You should be comfortable in a small, unstructured office environment and have past experience using Excel and Word/PowerPoint. This is two-year position, after which you can go on to pursue higher education or potentially continue with the firm in a more senior role.
