PARI WASHINGTON COMPANY

Who We Are:

Pari Washington Company Advisors Private Limited is an investment advisory firm based in Chennai.

Job Description:

We are looking for Research Management Trainees for our investment advisory operations in Chennai. Pari Washington has an established Management Trainee program of twelve months which leads to permanent roles in the firm. The Management Trainee will work closely with research analysts and will be an integral part of the research team. Key functions of the position, among others, are to:

- Build knowledge about companies and industries, summarize and present this in a crisp, concise and usable format
- Develop and maintain excel based models for companies
- Develop and maintain industry dossiers through primary and secondary research
- Develop and maintain industry screens
- Participate in team discussions and be unafraid to ask questions

Job Qualifications:

- Bachelor's degree in any stream. Passion for stocks and businesses, a must
- Reasonable excel skills a must. Familiarity with profit and loss statements, balance sheet and cash flow statements, a must
- Attention to detail is critical; this requirement is a must
- Ability to work in an unstructured environment and be a go–getter, a definite requirement. Patience to read annual reports and an ability to dig deep to find the required information, a definite requirement
- Clear, consistent and professional degree of communication (verbal as well as written) skills are a must
- Team player with a positive attitude, process orientation and strong work ethics

Salary Expectations:

- For candidates with Bachelor's degree, CTC will range between INR 650,000 to INR 800,000 per annum
- For candidates with Master's degree plus work experience, CTC will be up to INR 1,200,000 per annum

PARI WASHINGTON COMPANY – The Story behind the Name

Pari, a first generation entrepreneur prince, who resided in the hills of Tamilakam about two thousand years ago, is renowned for his fairness and generosity even today. History, the ultimate judge, however also records that his then fledgling government did not outlast him and did not provide a sustainable return to his constituents. Washington, in contrast, also a first generation entrepreneur but with republican ideals, is renowned for having created what is arguably the world's most successful enterprise: the United States. While Washington is recognized today for his vision and execution capability as a military strategist and leader, the history books revere him for surrounding himself with peers that were his intellectual equals if not superiors, for the sound and autonomous institutions he built and for implementing a succession plan even while at the top of his game – all in the singular pursuit of building an institution that would stand the test of time. Operating under the guidelines of our value oriented investment process, Pari Washington Company aims to invest with only those entrepreneurs that are at the Pari stage of growth today and are capable of transcending themselves to the Washington stage of life over time. This process, we believe, will be both intellectually stimulating and deliver sustainable investment returns for all over the long-term.