Roles that we will hire for :

1. Product marketer
    - GTM: Build and execute the GTM strategy, lead product launches, set competitive positioning, manage “day-to-day” marketing support for your respective product domains; in a nutshell, “own” or “champion” your product domains in collaboration with the Product Management team.
    - Sales Enablement: Communicate the value proposition of your product including how they compare to competitive offerings, to the sales and field teams and develop the sales tools that support the selling process, including sales training and product demos.
    - Analyst relations: Collaborate with Corporate Marketing and support ac-vi-es related to analyst relations that would include positioning SAWO in various strategic surveys, interviews, and trade shows.
    - Persona research: Understand the buyer and the end-user. Build buyer personas and needs; be the expert on your buyers, how they buy and their buying criteria; be the expert on your end-users and how they use your product; act as “the voice of the customer” across all functions (i.e., product management, sales, marketing).
    - Thought Leadership: Create thought leadership content pieces by researching relevant topics for particular personas, topics from the identity world, and geopolitical/technology topics related to the same, where relevant.
    - Insights & Research: Strive to continuously deliver industry, market, and product insights to support product roadmap/positioning, campaign development and other relevant areas, and company growth.
    - SaaS or Enterprise software experience is a must; proven track record marketing to a technical audience.

2. APM
    - Create Product Requirement Documents that describe business use cases, technical requirements, milestones, deadlines
    - Work closely with the engineering team to track metrics and strategize improvements
    - Align with Product Lead on Developer feedback and help generate weekly reports for the same
    - Use Feedback information to iterate guides and improve documentation
    - Drive feature launches and plan priorities
    - Do regular competitor product teardowns and help align the same with the roadmap.
    - Map touchpoints of the user journey to create dashboards and map leakages

3. GROWTH
    - Drive the organic growth strategy to drive developer's demand (D2C, Ecom, marketplace) on the auth product,
    - Cross-functional coordination across product, engineering, marketing, and community.
    - Surface insights to drive executive decision making across the business
    - Partner with Product and Engineering teams to support design, execution, and analysis of in-product experiments to drive growth and demand

- Leverage deep understanding of auth products to help analyse the full funnel and provide recommendations on where we can improve or run experiments
- Lead ideation and experimentation of different growth strategies for acquisition, activation, monetization, and retention and share your learnings with the wider org
- Own, set up tooling and infrastructure to support growth initiatives - Events, Hackathons, Community, Growth shows, and Slack channels.
- Building repeatable developer marketing playbook and systems that can be measured, constantly iterated, and scaled

4. social media

What You'll Achieve:

- Own SAWO's presence across Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, Facebook, and any other social channels that emerge. We want someone who feels incredible connection and responsibility to the content we share with our audiences on these sites.

- Design and write copy for each of the channels above - bringing SAWO's aesthetic and your creativity to every asset we produce. We want to be different, memorable, and communicate SAWO's unique perspective on work and life.

- Tell compelling stories about product developments, goals, company news, how computing history influences our work together.

- Deliver on our business and marketing goals across social media channels. Understand the metrics we need to move, and develop strategies to get us there.
- Build social channels for the SAWO brand but also leaders and influencers within the company and our community who have a voice and point of view to amplify.
- Educate our audience visually and in writing to find success and achieve their goals with the SAWO product. Inspire them with use cases and possibilities.
- Project manage our social media presence, taking in requests from across the organization, prioritizing them, and communicating our plans clearly.

Skills and Toolset You'll Need to Bring:

- You bring design to the table. You have experience with photography and visual design — motion graphics, illustration, art — and a strong aesthetic sense.
- You've managed brand accounts before. We'd love to work with someone experienced who's been to the rodeo and is now ready to run it.
- You've built significant communities. You've amassed a serious following around yourself or a company before. Now, you want to do it on a global scale for millions of viewers.
- You write professionally. Good storytelling requires exceptional writing ability. You can share writing that demonstrates distinct brand voice.
- You hate cliche and your work shows it. SAWO never replies to tweets with corny gifs. We don't post Insta stories multiple times a day. Seeking like minds :)

- You stay up with the trends. You know how fast social can move. Channels rise and fall. Memes come and go. We want our content to feel classic but current.
- Important note: The above is what we suspect the right background might be — but we honestly don't know. We'd love to hear from artists and creative producers with all kinds of strengths and ideas.

5. Community Manager

    - Identify key community leaders across the globe [specifically in India] to be strategic partners and onboard them into our programs.
    - Set and implement community engagement campaigns to align with marketing and media strategies.
    - Proven experience working with community engagement - online/offline marketing, engagement, networking, and relationship building.
    - Past experience working with a start-up and a growing company.
    - Past experience launching community initiatives (e.g. building an online forum, launching an ambassador program, creating an event series, or writing an email, newsletter).
    - Excellent verbal and written communication skills.
    - Ability to identify, track and interpret online and offline engagement metrics. Also track, analyse, and communicate key quantitative metrics to develop and execute against partnership goals.
    - Organize and participate in events to build community and boost brand awareness.
    - Coordinate with Marketing, PR, and Communications teams to ensure brand consistency.
    - Liaise with Development and Sales departments to stay updated on new products and features.
    - Build relationships with tech influencers, academic and cultural communities, STEM communities, potential customers, industry professionals, and journalists
    - Liaise amongst communities to create and nurture relationships for SAWO Labs.