

Skit (previously Vernacular.ai) – B2B Enterprise Tech – Series B Funded Company

Role: Solution Sales Executive/Specialist

Location: Mumbai/Delhi NCR/Bengaluru preferred

About Skit:

Skit was founded with the vision to build infrastructure for the 'Voice-first' future. The experience a company provides is as important as its products and services. Today, enterprises recognize the revenue creation potential of contact centers through improved customer experience, as opposed to the traditional cost center view. However, a large number of contact centers continue to run on outdated legacy systems and old technologies, leading to poor customer experience, agent dissatisfaction, and increasing operational costs.

We've developed a Voice-AI powered call center automation platform designed to have human-like conversations through over 10 million hours of training data. Our platform can currently respond in over 16+ languages, covering over 160+ dialects and replicating human-like conversations.

Since 2020, we've quadrupled our number of customers and revenue and our average order book has been growing at a CAGR of 200-300%. This growth has helped us secure $23M in Series B financing to rapidly scale to new markets.

Skit currently serves a variety of enterprise clients across diverse sectors such as Banking and Insurance, Food and Beverage, Consumer Durables, E-commerce, and Travel and Tourism.

If you are excited by AI, machine learning, the future of customer experience, and unlocking new markets, we want to speak with you.

Roles and responsibilities

This role will be a part of Solutions Consulting and Value Consulting team, the brand new Value Consulting arm of the department. Our Solutions Consulting resources work directly with our Account Executive teams and are focused on showing the value and capability of Outreach solutions. The team acts as trusted advisors to understand the prospects' business, position the Outreach application, and build compelling demonstrations that outline the solution to critical business objectives. This team will meet with prospect CEO's, CRO's and CIO's to understand their key strategies in revenue generation, growth, customer experience and buyer experience. They will be responsible for deep consulting with our largest customers and prospects to analyze where Outreach products could have the deepest impact.

Who you are:

- You have a deep passion for and understanding of Sales, and have worked in Solutions Consulting/Sales Engineering and Value Consulting teams in the past.
- You understand Sales process and Sales executives roles and responsibilities.
- You are the technical owner of the sale and can translate the needs of the business to technology and the outcomes that it will produce.
- You work well cross-functionally and understand how to operationalize outputs within a fast-growing company.
- You are willing to build from the ground up a key Organization that is India based with global growth potential.
- You're willing to sign up for ambitious results and committed to high business impact
- You're comfortable making strategic trade-offs, and have a history of successful decision-making
- You're an effective communicator who prioritizes quality of work and successful outcomes over ego