antara*foundation*

Fellowship at The Antara Foundation (TAF)

Why should almost a million children under age-five die each year in India? Why should three mothers die every hour? The irony is that most of these deaths are preventable, through solutions that are well known. The great challenge lies in the delivery of these solutions at scale. That is the exact focus of our work.

TAF is a non-profit start-up which works to transform India's public health system, currently focused on maternal and child health, including nutrition. We are a field-based implementing organization, working in some of its most far-flung villages and marginalized communities. TAF was founded by Ashok Alexander, formerly Senior Partner, McKinsey & Company, and first India country director, Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. Ashok is one of India's most respected public health experts, specialised in incorporating business thinking into public health delivery.

The essence of TAF's work is integration, at scale, of innovations in supply and demand sides of health service delivery. In 2015, we started our first program in Rajasthan. This state of 80 million served as a crucible for vibrant innovation, and the development of our core model for scaling up. Within three years, the Rajasthan government introduced our flagship innovation (AAA platform) across the state, spanning 46,000 villages, and a rural population of over 50 million. Currently, we have adapted our model to work in Madhya Pradesh (population: 87 million), a state with very different demographic and socio-cultural characteristics. We are present in six districts, with plans to reach 10-12 districts (a fifth of the state) by 2023.

We are now at the cusp of a new phase of massive geographic expansion, and fresh innovations in every aspect of our work and organization. In this, we are backed by some of the world's best foundations and philanthropists including the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Mackenzie Scott, LGT VP, and Vijay and Marie Goradia Foundation. At this juncture, we are increasing the staff count by more than 2x, to cater to the large-scale expansion of our work.

Role:
Through the Antara Foundation fellowship, India's brightest young professionals will be placed in rural locations in Madhya Pradesh. There, they will work alongside frontline workers, Government supervisors and our diverse team to design and implement programmatic interventions.

We are looking for Fellows who are passionate, bubbling over with ideas, strategic in approach, hard-nosed with data and most importantly, enthusiastic to learn. S/he would have to have great interpersonal skills and be able to handle diverse stakeholders ranging from the rural community to government officials to colleagues from diverse backgrounds. from This is typically for someone with 0-2 years of experience.

You won't just be an extra pair of hands and legs. Indian public health needs your minds and your soul. In the process, you will acquire knowledge, skills and an unparalleled grassroots experience. Read more about the Fellowship here

A fellow would be responsible for running our program end-to-end, alongside other program officers. You will have the opportunity to exercise ultimate leadership and entrepreneurship in respective area, under the principle of 'freedom with responsibility'. You would receive ongoing apprenticeship from our managers and leadership who are among the best in the sector and from colleagues who are some of the brightest minds. You would not only receive hardcore field exposure, but will also have ample opportunity to contribute to multiple other aspects of the organization, which is going through massive transformation.

We take pride in our culture, which resonates with non-hierarchy, ownership, humility, high performance and having fun. We look for someone who will thrive in our culture, is passionate to play important role in shaping Antara's future, and above all excited at the prospect of working for a larger cause and saving tens of thousands of lives.

Location – One of our intervention districts in Madhya Pradesh (subjective to need) with interstate travel and travel to Delhi (HO) as required

Roles & responsibilities include but are not restricted to:

- Plan and implement our interventions end-to-end in an integrated manner
- Plan activities, trouble-shoot issues and conduct extensive field visits on daily basis to different areas of the block; Monitor the program routinely
- Continuously ideate and analyse data to improve program delivery and introduce new initiatives
- Maintain strong relationships and work closely with village/block/district government officials to ensure quality delivery and sustainability of the program
- Develop trust and bonds with frontline workers and community to ensure quality delivery and sustainability of the program
- Contribute to overall organizational needs and vision outside the field and collaborate with team members from different locations/ departments

Skills:

- Strategic and analytical thinking
- Creativity
- Clear written and oral communication
- Fast learning
- Exceptional inter-personal skills
- Ability to work well in a multi-disciplinary team environment, good team player

Attributes:

- Humility
- Passion
- Ownership and responsibility
- Entrepreneurship
- Sense of humour
- Quick grasp of complex issues
- Curiosity
- Team spirit

Compensation: 4-7 lakhs per annum

If interested, please reach out to Shreya Ravichandran – Shreya.ravichandran@antarafoundation.org or Neeraj Jham – Neeraj.jham@antarafoundation.org