Job Opening: Research Associate (In-Person, Gurugram)

The Cohen Group, a strategic business advisory firm headquartered in Washington, DC, provides global companies with strategic advice and on the ground tactical assistance in policy advocacy, stakeholder engagement, business development and market assessment/entry. The Cohen Group consists of a talented team of experts with years of experience in both government and industry, with a drive to find solutions and a deep understanding of the institutions and protocols of nations worldwide.

The Cohen Group is seeking a candidate to join our busy India Practice as a Research Associate, working across sectors with our clients to navigate the environment around doing business in India. This is a full-time, in-person position based in India.

Job Responsibilities:

- Supporting and leading primary open-source research and developing written products to provide clients with an understanding of how economic, political, and regulatory trends impact their global business.
- Conducting outreach to relevant stakeholders in support of clients and in response to requests regarding their strategic decisions and day-to-day operations.
- Building and implementing creative plans to advise clients on political, economic, and regulatory risk factors that impact business interests in India and the region and markets around the world.
- Developing comprehensive qualitative and quantitative briefing materials for clients, including packaging market analysis, engagement strategies, and regulatory developments in visually appealing ways using PowerPoint or Microsoft Word.
- Tracking and providing analysis of significant news developments and broader geopolitical trends for clients.
- Attending and reporting on events and webinars relevant to client interests.

Minimum Qualifications:

- In-depth knowledge of Indian political economy, with strong research and writing skills.
- Must have an interest in problem-solving across various sectors and issues, including but not limited to healthcare, technology, industrial manufacturing, energy, and the environment.
- Demonstrated emotional intelligence and proven ability to work collaboratively on a multinational team.
- Must be willing and able to enthusiastically contribute to both South Asia regional client work – with a client-driven focus on India – and work on all other geographies.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Fluency in English and Hindi including strong writing and reading skills and listening and speaking skills. Fluency in any other Indian language would be an added advantage.
