About Varun -

One of the leading voices in modern advertising, Varun Duggirala co-founded ‘The Glitch’ in 2009 and has since helped it grow into one of India’s premier New Age creative agencies. (It was acquired by WPP in 2017.) On his popular podcast Advertising Is Dead, Varun talks about the developments and disruptions in the business of advertising, media, content and entertainment. He strongly believes that content is going to drive the brandscape and help reframe the narrative around advertising and marketing. He spends way too much time staring at screens and talking into mics, but is also someone who’s always open to having a conversation about, quite literally, anything!

1. Content and Digital Strategist

Role Summary

If you are awakened by the sound of the Netflix dadum and not your alarm.
If for lunch you consume events and what's happening instead of food.
If you have no fingerprints left by scrolling through feeds.
If experiences are your soul food.

You are the one!

We are looking for a maven who will help us deliver campaign ideas that intersect between experiences and social content. You should know the local scene intimately. Research, innovation to execution you will be involved with it all. If you talk content and always have crazy ideas running on your mind, this position is for you.
