Roles and Responsibilities

As a business analyst, your responsibilities include:

· Structuring complex problem areas, analysing relevant data, and developing concrete action recommendations

· Extracting key messages from your research in a clear and concise manner

· Assisting the team in developing presentations and reports

· Providing input in client meetings regarding own work

· Interacting with customers/clients during workshops and interviews

You will be working on well-defined sub-tasks of the assignment, either for a proposal or a project. You will work as part of a team that includes Senior Consultants, a Case Manager, and a Partner in Charge. Throughout the project, you will be supported and guided by the Case Manager. Arthur D. Little will constantly provide you with opportunities to develop and showcase your abilities!

In addition, you will be able to contribute to the growth of the office by taking on a role in the internal office structure.

Skills required

You should have an excellent academic track record, proven leadership skills, and extracurricular achievements.

As a business analyst you should:

· Possess the necessary analytical skills and think in a solution-oriented manner

- Have a sharp sense of professionalism, making you a credible partner in the eyes of the client
- Have the right interpersonal skills to be an effective part of our case teams – adapting rapidly to the diverse environments you will be exposed to
- Like to be on the road, be a convincing team player, and be motivated to develop your full potential in flat hierarchies

About the company

Arthur D. Little is the first management consulting firm in the world. While we have invented management consulting, we have very much remained focused on innovation, and believe the current times are extremely exciting, as we are entering an era in which success will be predicated on creativity. We Anticipate, Innovate, and Transform to deliver value to our clients. Today, Arthur D. Little continues to provide ground-breaking thought leadership, including notably through Prism, its biannual journal that touches on emerging industry trends, strategic thinking, and operational excellence. Our firm's deep industry knowledge, linked to our strong expertise in strategy, innovation, and transformation, helps us solve our clients' most complex business issues while delivering sustainable results to their businesses. We are not fond of replicable solutions, as we recognize that each client's problem is unique to its industry, its internal culture and organization, and its DNA. Our clients recognize this value and seek us out when faced with new, uncharted challenges. We continue to expand our presence and take on projects that enrich our professionals; the next 100 years of Arthur D. Little will be just as exciting as its first century!

Being the First Management Consultancy in the world has given us the privilege to work with A-class clients from different industries such as Energy & Utilities, Engineering, Telecom, Travel and Transportation and Health Care. Our clients value us for both our out-of-the-box thinking and the stringent intellectual rigor we adhere to. We have exceptionally talented people on board; their unique blend of entrepreneurship, enthusiasm, and a good sense of humor makes them both inspiring and fun to work with.

Our consulting approach is unique: we work side-by-side with large companies and medium-sized customers, using our international open consulting network. This is how original and pragmatic solutions are created. With a powerful combination of creativity and rigor, we connect people, technology and strategy. This approach gives us a clear profile and lets both our customers and our employees experience the difference in working with us.
