About Indian School of Public Policy

Indian School of Public Policy (ISPP) is India's premier institute for public policy education. It is aimed at training the next generation of changemakers to solve India's emerging set of developmental and policy challenges. ISPP has been established by the Centre for Civil Society (CCS), a 20-year-old public policy think tank ranked among the top 100 in the world. The school was founded by some of the best policy minds in the country including Vijay Kelkar, Former Finance Secretary of India and Padma Vibhushan awardee, and Arvind Panagariya, Former Vice-Chairman NITI Aayog and Professor of Economics at Columbia University, New York. The patrons of ISPP include Nadir Godrej, Managing Director, Godrej Industries, and Nandan Nilekani, Co-Founder and Non-Executive Chairman, Infosys.

About the Office of Admissions

The Office of Admissions at ISPP is dedicated to discovering the brightest young minds that are geared towards solving India's emerging set of developmental and policy challenges. Our unique and holistic admissions process includes an application form that captures a scholar's academic and professional journey along with their interest in public policy. The second stage includes an innovative, experiential component that allows students to demonstrate empathy, critical-thinking, creativity, collaboration, and a knack for solving problems – all attributes we deem desirable in an ISPP scholar.

Roles and responsibilities:

The Admissions Counsellor will be responsible for assisting prospective students with the college admissions process and facilitate their journey through the entire admissions process (filling and submission of applications, ensuring participation of shortlisted applicants in the selection process, ensuring fee submission of the applicants offered admission).

The specific job duties of the Admissions Counsellor will include:

- Providing information and guidance to prospective students about admission requirements, application procedures, financial aid and other aspects of ISPP.
- Assisting students with timely completion and submission of their applications.
- Follow-up with students on completing the required stages in the admissions process within the timeline (application submission, quantitative aptitude test, group discussion, personal interview, financial aid application, fee payment etc.)
- Maintaining accurate records and data related to admissions activities on ISPP Admissions CRM platform.
- Analysing admissions application data to identify opportunities for improvement and adjust strategies accordingly.

Competencies required:

- Proficiency in college admissions counselling work
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- Deep understanding of ISPP's culture and mission, academic programs, placements and other important aspects of the institute.
- Ability to articulate ISPP's USP to prospective students and stakeholders
- Ability to provide guidance and support to students from a variety of backgrounds and academic levels, and be able to navigate complex situations with tact and sensitivity.
- Ability to work in a start-up like environment that requires proactive and creative problem-solving

Application process:

You can submit your application on the given link by 7th March 2023.

Shortlisted candidates will be contacted for an interview within a week of their application.

ISPP is an equal opportunity employer.
