About Indian School of Public Policy

Indian School of Public Policy (ISPP) is India's premier institute for public policy education. It is aimed at training the next generation of changemakers to solve India's emerging set of developmental and policy challenges. ISPP has been established by the Centre for Civil Society (CCS), a 20-year-old public policy think tank ranked among the top 100 in the world. The school was founded by some of the best policy minds in the country including Vijay Kelkar, Former Finance Secretary of India and Padma Vibhushan awardee, and Arvind Panagariya, Former Vice-Chairman NITI Aayog and Professor of Economics at Columbia University, New York. The patrons of ISPP include Nadir Godrej, Managing Director, Godrej Industries, and Nandan Nilekani, Co-Founder and Non-Executive Chairman, Infosys.

About the Office of Admissions

The Office of Admissions at ISPP is dedicated to discovering the brightest young minds that are geared towards solving India's emerging set of developmental and policy challenges. Our unique and holistic admissions process includes an application form that captures a scholar's academic and professional journey along with their interest in public policy. The second stage includes an innovative, experiential component that allows students to demonstrate empathy, critical-thinking, creativity, collaboration, and a knack for solving problems – all attributes we deem desirable in an ISPP scholar.

Roles and responsibilities:

The Deputy Manager – Outreach will be responsible for promoting and representing ISPP to prospective students that includes working professionals and graduate students. Their primary role is to increase the ISPP's visibility and reputation and attract high-quality talented people to pursue public policy programmes offered by the institute.

The specific job duties of the Deputy Manager – Outreach will include:

- Administering the planning and conduct of outreach events, including brand-building and outreach events on office complexes, universities and other such forums.
- Directly communicating with the target student audience in both B2B and B2C models viz. colleges and universities, applicants and prospects etc.
- Identifying new channels of outreach keeping in mind ISPP's target student group (e.g., Gandhi fellows, LAMP fellows, UPSC aspirants, development sector professionals etc.) and collaboration with them to increase ISPP's reach among these groups.
- Collaboration with ISPP's academic, placements and leadership team to develop outreach programs and initiatives.
- Analysing admissions application data to identify opportunities for improvement and adjust strategies accordingly.

Competencies required:

- Proficiency in college admissions outreach work
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- Deep understanding of ISPP's culture and mission, academic programs, placements and other important aspects of the institute.
- Ability to articulate ISPP's USP to prospective students and stakeholders
- Ability to work in a start-up like environment that requires proactive and creative problem-solving

Application process:
