Purpose

McGraw Hill is an education innovation company that develops and sells meaningful learning solutions for students in India and worldwide. Our solutions range from textbooks to EdTech platforms that help students achieve better learning outcomes.

To meet the needs of our growing business in India, we are hiring vibrant, dynamic and smart college graduates/ postgraduates, who are passionate about education and are willing to join McGraw Hill India as management trainees for a period of one year. This exposure will help the trainees understand the nuances of publishing industry as well as McGraw Hill as a company, thereby helping you craft a career for yourself in the rapidly evolving education sector in India.

What is on offer for you?

The management trainee program will provide you exposure to multiple functions and teams in form of 4-6 rotations (each rotation being 8-12 weeks in duration) through different functions and team over a period of 12 months to help you understand how we think and what we do. Over these 12 months, you will have a chance to work closely with McGraw Hill teams on meaningful and productive projects, which will help you build strong business acumen and provide you with a wider view of important business functions. You will experience first-hand, how products and services are ideated, built and launched, how is the product value delivered to create an impact, what all does it take to make products successful and how a product organization operates and runs.

What are you going to do and experience:

- Opportunity to work with and learn from the members of the McGraw Hill India senior leadership team to help you understand some critical aspects of our work and approach.
- Opportunity to understand the intricacies and complexities of the Indian education system, and to experience working on some real ongoing projects.
- Learn about McGraw Hill's product offerings and our unique value proposition for stakeholders in the Indian education ecosystem.
- A chance to carry out primary and/ or secondary research on our products, market competitive landscape and/ or upcoming opportunities.
- Showcase your innovative side by presenting solutions for the identified gap areas and/ or opportunities you spot and building business cases for new market opportunities.
- Use modern product management processes – design, set up and launch new products with a focus on growth and sustainability.
- Learn about the product development process and experience the editorial and production aspects of publishing process.
- A chance to showcase your creativity and marketing side - design campaigns, promotions and communication strategy and product value/ impact stories.
- An opportunity to understand nuances of building and running a business – thinking in terms of viability, scalability, profitability and unit economics while evaluating ideas.

What do you need to be successful?

- You are a self-starter and go-getter, who can navigate ambiguity and complexity of a global corporation to create your own niche.
- You have the ability to take end to end ownership of critical tasks in a multifunctional environment, and also own your own learning and development.
- You act with intellectual curiosity and have an analytical thought process, a data driven and problem-solving attitude, and learning aptitude.
- You can carry out research and connect different pieces of the puzzle to formulate viable business cases in order to translate ideas into opportunities.
- You work effectively across the organisation and partner successfully with others to accomplish goals
- You have strong project management skills and operate with a sense of urgency to deliver required results.
- You are process oriented and have good data handling, communication and presentation skills.

Education background and experiences

- Bachelors' degree from a tier 1 institution with 1-2 years of work experience – must have
- Post graduation/ MBA from a tier 1 institution – desirable
- Previous full-time/ part-time work experience, certifications, bootcamp exposure, or extra-curricular experience from school/ college will add to your chances of success.
