Organisation: Meraki SparX (Parent Company: www.merakilabs.com)
Role: Research Writer/Editor
Location: Bangalore (Full time)

About Meraki SparX

At Meraki SparX, we create deeply researched and innovative content across long form writing, audio, and video platforms, designed to amplify and scale human potential. With a focus on themes of politics, economy, development, health, entrepreneurship and others, Meraki SparX aims to make knowledge accessible for an Indian audience and to equip them with tools to catalyse growth. We are passionate about producing meaningful content across a range of disciplines that leverages the power of science, humanities, and technology to enable people to create and experience lasting exponential impact in their lives.

Job Overview

The Meraki Sparx Writer/Editor will be able to distil deeply researched insights on topics of health, entrepreneurship, Policy across content platforms. The ideal applicant will be comfortable with analysing academic and scientific research papers, synthesising and summarising data in creative, unique, and accessible language. They will be able to stay up to date with the most current and cutting-edge studies within areas of research, by optimising research produced by the research team.

If you're passionate about writing and editing content, aimed at amplifying human potential and impact - we'd love to talk to you.

Key Responsibilities

- Writing and editing well-researched content on various topics, including but not restricted to health, entrepreneurship, productivity and performance ● Distilling relevant research papers and books in accessible and creative language, across content platforms
- Working closely with the research team in the drafting briefs, synthesis, blogs etc.
- Editing and proof work to ensure high editorial standards are met across all content outputs
- Participating in content brainstorming sessions to discover new ideas

Essential Qualifications

- Master's degree in English/ Political Science/Sociology/History/Economics/Journalism
- Excellent writing, editing, and proofreading skills

- Comfortable working independently in a self-starter role

Desired Qualifications

- 3-4 years of prior experience in journalism, copy writing and editing
- Candidates with a record of publishing are encouraged to apply

Remuneration will be between 8-15 LPA, depending upon a candidate's experience level.