Mathematics Product Developer

Roles and Responsibilities

- Analyse and break down complex mathematical problems at the senior secondary level.
- Compile strategies and techniques for JEE and Olympiad-level problems (JEE, KVPY, ISI, CMI, RMO, INMO, IMO)
- Study problem-solving techniques and strategies across different problem sets, and assist in developing a new math product.
- Coordinate across domains such as Engineering and data science, Marketing, Sales and Curriculum & Pedagogy.

Requirements

- Solid understanding of (and passion for) mathematical problem-solving.
- Ability to understand and appreciate complex mathematical problems such as problems in RMO, INMO and IMO.

Eligibility

- Graduates or soon-to-be graduates of
    - BSc, MSc or PhD in Mathematics / Statistics
    - BSc, MSc or PhD in Physics
    - B Tech in Computer Science.

About the company

Nioclass is an education company based out of New Delhi, focusing on learning design and exam preparedness for senior secondary, college, and postgraduate students. Our AI-based software trains students for various tests, from IIT Advanced to the CAT, and from exams in India to exams in America and the UK.
We launched our first product for IIT JEE Mathematics in Dec 2022.
More details may be accessed on the company website: www.niomath.com

Location

Our office is located at 4/1 Sarvapriya Vihar, New Delhi.

Interview Process

We have three interview rounds:

- Round 1: An online test of Logical Reasoning.
- Round 2: A technical task (submitted via email)
- Round 3: An in-person interview.

Timeline

We are looking for candidates to start immediately. Fresh graduates may start after graduation.

Contact

Interested candidate can send their CV to Manav Kothari at m@nioclass.com