TAKSHASHILA INSTITUTION

About the Takshashila Institution

Assistant Programme Manager

The Takshashila Institution is an independent think tank and a school of public policy. At Takshashila, we are running the marathon to transform India. We are shaping the elite opinion and creating an army of good leaders.

Takshashila is a pioneer in modern public policy education in India. We provide the best public policy education in the country. We run multiple education programmes that vary in their intensity and duration. Takshashila Institution Programmes are carefully curated, and we strive towards giving our students a holistic and unique learning experience, whilst delivering a programme of high quality. The role of an Assistant Programme Manager is to assist in the management of multiple activities within a given Policy School Programme, while upholding project management best practices.
