feeding india by zomato

Associate Program Manager

Location

Gurugram

Who we are?

Feeding India, a non-profit by Zomato, is a social impact organisation committed to reducing malnutrition and ending hunger in India. We design large-scale systemic interventions to strengthen government welfare programmes and provide essential meal support to underserved communities.

We also collaborate with low-income schools, anganwadis, and credible non-profit partners to serve vulnerable communities. Our team is an amazing group of passionate, dedicated people who are motivated to make a difference.

What will you do?

As a Associate Program Manager, you will lead high-impact projects with various state and central government stakeholders to improve malnutrition and hunger outcomes through our various programmes.

- Effectively carry out the development initiatives in accordance with the timeline, budget, and quality requirements
- Build relationships with different government stakeholders and co-create programmes for our target communities
- Adapt good practices from across the industry to develop and propose a sustainability strategy through assessments, research and prioritisation of initiatives

What will you do?

- Lead multiple programmes and collaborate internally to ensure optimal utilisation of funds
- Establish and maintain relationships with internal and external corporate, philanthropic foundations, and non-profit partner organisations
- Develop and execute the strategy and operating model to tackle malnutrition and improve hunger outcomes in India
- Build short-term, mid-term and long-term strategies for the growth, evolution, and expansion of our programmes

Still curious?

Explore our website to know more about our mission, the communities we support, and our current campaigns.

We are looking for someone who is:

- an ambitious professional with a passion for building high impact programs
- data-driven and possesses strong analytical skills
- experienced in developing strategy and driving execution in a multi-stakeholder environment
- experienced in project planning and can define work streams for others while managing multiple timelines and deadlines
- a great communicator with excellent presentation and stakeholder management skills
- experienced in managing team members in inclusive and supportive ways
- committed to our mission of social change and strong knowledge of the development landscape in India and around the world
- willing to travel across India
- great at strategy and has experience in hunger and malnutrition-related work (bonus, not a must)

feeding india by zomato