About Adam Smith International

Adam Smith International is a global advisory company that works locally to transform lives by making economies stronger, societies more stable, and governments more effective. We partner with governments, businesses and civil society organisations to create and deliver custom-made solutions to the big challenges facing the world.

Our service lines include education, infrastructure and climate change, inclusive markets, governance, justice, security and peacebuilding, public financial management and revenue reform, mining, oil and gas and cross cutting services. As an employee-owned company that works in countries at all stages of development, we are a certified B Corp with a triple bottom line of financial, social and environmental accountability. By sharing our knowledge and experience, we help to improve learning in our industry, as well as the positive impact we can have on people's lives.

We serve an extensive mix of public and private sector clients across South Asia, Asia Pacific, the Middle East, Europe, Africa and the Americas and are recognised as leading providers of economic growth and government reform programmes. Our clients are supported by our diverse and global team drawn from our central London Headquarters and offices located in over 20 countries.

Background

This is an exciting time to join Adam Smith International and become part of a team of bright, dynamic and committed people, determined to transform lives for the better. Company-wide, both our pipeline of business opportunities and portfolio of programmes are growing. We want to recruit high calibre candidates to support the continued growth and delivery of our global portfolio against the quality and high ethical standards that we and our clients require.

Based in Delhi, Adam Smith International (India) is expanding and is looking for ambitious individuals to join our team. We are leaders in the delivery of national and state level development programmes on behalf of donors and strategic assignments for private firms and foundations. We also provide critical business development support to the wider company to secure new and exciting business. The Business Development team of Adam Smith International is responsible for supporting the growth of Adam Smith International businesses across geographies, technical areas and clients. Specifically, the team plays a critical role in the development of proposals, knowledge management and building networks to drive the expansion of the firm.

About the role

The Professional Development Scheme is a 12-month programme that offers you the opportunity to perform different business development and project management responsibilities across our different service lines and gives you the knowledge and skills to kick-start a career in international development. The scheme is designed to both challenge and support you and give you the knowledge and skills to kick-start your career in international development. You will have the opportunity to collaborate with, support and learn from more experienced Managers across different teams and discover which areas of the business best align with your skillset and interest.

As an Assistant Manager, we will support and prepare you on the following:

- Development of impact-driven technical and financial proposals for leading development partners.
- Understanding local delivery contexts and political economies.

Adam Smith International Ltd. Registered Office: 16 18 New Bridge Street| London EC4V 6AG | UK | Registered Number: 2732176. VAT Number: 884252406.

- Managing complex delivery tasks and project risks.

After successfully completing 12 months with the company, and depending on your performance, you will have the opportunity to progress into a Manager position. Promising candidates may also have opportunities to work in different offices of Adam Smith International following the successful completion of the 12 months.

In addition to a competitive compensation package and excellent benefits, we offer you a friendly and supportive team environment and the opportunity to work on a highly successful portfolio of programmes. As a certified B Corp, we care about the wellbeing and growth of our people and are committed to supporting your personal development and actively facilitating opportunities to build skills and knowledge in your areas of interest.

Key Responsibilities:

(a) Support business development

- Proactively look for business development opportunities aligned to our service offering.
- Work closely with colleagues based remotely to support in the development of high-quality proposals, including technical report writing, compliance, commercial proposals and staffing.
- Develop client presentations articulating our service offerings.
- Respond to ad hoc requests from colleagues globally for detailed research and produce this independently to a high-quality standard.

(b) Lead knowledge management

- Maintain and update Adam Smith International's knowledge management products through liaising with colleagues across the world.
- Respond to client requests for statements that demonstrate Adam Smith International's capability in specific technical areas.

(c) Build networks and contribute positively to the regional team

- Build Adam Smith International's network of associates globally through identifying key experts in the fields of economic development, infrastructure, education, governance, market systems development, etc.
- Support team members in the region and globally as required.

(d) Contribute to Project Management

- Support the management of the successful delivery of projects to terms of reference, time, quality, cost and donor and Government satisfaction. This will include assistance in the following areas of project management:
