Project Management- Large Scale Project : Bhopal, Indore and Dewas (Madhya Pradesh)

About us: Alohomora Education Foundation is enabling the ecosystem around young people to enable informed career decisions at scale.

We work closely with UNICEF's Project Yuwaah, the Govt of Delhi and the District administration & Education department of Jhajjar, Haryana to support more than 3 Lakh students each year. We are looking to grow our impact rapidly over the next few years. We have recently been selected to be part of the EdumentumX initiative of Shikshalokam to scale our district level initiatives.

Role background: At Alohomora, we believe every young person should have the opportunity to know a diversity of careers and make a choice aligned with their strengths and interests. There would be a strong systematic investment for the program amongst teachers and education officials and we are looking to deepen our work in the district and create strong proof points of our impact.

About the role: If you are someone who loves building meaningful relations with diverse stakeholders, have sharp observation and reflective skills, and wants to work towards leading implementation of solutions for a complex large-scale social problem - then this role is for you.

You will work closely with the district administration and closely support govt. school teachers to equip them to support students to explore a diversity of careers and make informed choices. Your day-to-day responsibilities will be dynamic leaving a substantial scope to take initiative and leave your own mark.

Broad Areas of Responsibility:

1. Project planning: Support in creating an implementation plan keeping in mind Alohomora's mission, holding the view of Alohomora's purpose in the partnership throughout the implementation phase.
2. Project Implementation: Oversee that the idea behind the program design and resources is being implemented in the school with the students by the teachers.

3. Teacher Capacity Building: Conduct teacher capacity building workshops, observe and debrief their work in their schools, provide ongoing problem-solving support, organize district-level events etc.
4. Managing Stakeholder Relations: Work closely with the Piramal Education Foundation, the District administration and the Education Department, to leverage their support in achieving program goals. Build relations with industry and community stakeholders of the district to bring opportunities for students. The intention is to have deep collaboration with school authorities, government officials and other potential partners working on the project.
5. Document learning and impact: Document learnings from your experience on the project that Alohomora may leverage for future work and share insights with the rest of the team. Support with creating reports documenting our work and impact.
6. Monitoring & Evaluation: Ensure collection of periodic monitoring and evaluation data and insights from the ground.

What we are looking for:

1. Sr. Associate : Either a leadership fellowship, Master in Education/Social Work or a couple of years of relevant experience in the development sector.
   Manager : A couple of years of work experience in the development sector post a leadership fellowship/Masters and willingness to take on a leadership role.
2. Excellent communication and facilitation skills to plan and engage with strategic stakeholders, and work with a large group of adult learners as well as coach individual teachers to improve student learning.
3. Excitement to work on the field and travel within the district
4. Excellent problem-solving and strategic thinking to navigate a complex and sometimes uncertain environment
5. Strong drive to work independently in a fast-paced, action-oriented environment.
6. High openness and learning orientation to learn rapidly, adapt to changing courses of action, and willingness to take on multiple tasks during implementation.
