JD for Research Assistant

Foreign Policy and Security Studies

The Centre for Social and Economic Progress (CSEP) is seeking to hire a research assistant for its Foreign Policy and Security Studies vertical with a focus on India's engagement with climate change and energy policies in global governance.

The candidate is expected to assist a senior scholar in conducting policy-relevant research on India's evolving role as an emerging hub for climate knowledge and technology transfer in the Global South . The candidate will play a vital role in supporting our research initiatives and contributing to the development of innovative solutions in the field of international relations and foreign policy. They will work closely with our team of experts and contribute to research projects that inform policy decisions and address critical global challenges.

The candidate is expected to have a grasp of the literature on climate and energy policy and India's external engagements, along with the ability to help in conducting evidence-based, empirical and policy-relevant research.

CSEP provides unique opportunities to work in a collaborative environment with researchers and experts in India, the region and the world. We work with in-house, national and global experts, and regularly interact with stakeholders including industry and policymakers.

Key Requisites:

1. Bachelor's degree in International Relations, Political Science, or a related field (Master's degree is a plus).
2. Strong research and analytical skills.
3. Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
4. Knowledge of international relations theories, foreign policy analysis, and climate and energy policy.
5. Attention to detail and strong organisational skills.
6. Ability to work both independently and as part of a collaborative team.
7. Strong time management and multitasking capabilities.
8. Motivated and flexible.

We offer a competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience, along with a comprehensive benefits package.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, your CV along with email ids of two referees and a singled authored writing sample.

We appreciate all applications, but only shortlisted candidates will be contacted for further steps.

About CSEP

The Centre for Social and Economic Progress (CSEP) conducts independent, in-depth, and policy-relevant research, and provides evidence-based recommendations to the challenges facing India and the world. It draws on the expertise of its researchers, extensive interactions with policy makers as well as convening power to enhance the impact of research. Our researchers work across the domains of Economic Growth and Development including Health, Urbanisation; Energy, Natural Resources, Power, Critical Minerals, Climate change and Sustainability; and Foreign Policy and Security. All our research and policy recommendations are freely available to the public.

CSEP is based in New Delhi and registered as a company limited by shares and not for profit, under Section 8 of the Companies Act, 1956 (now Section 8 of Companies Act, 2013).

CSEP is an independent, non-partisan research organisation based in New Delhi. It is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All persons regardless of race, colour, creed, national origin, ancestry, sex, marital status, disability, religious or political affiliation, age or sexual orientation shall have equal access to positions, limited only by their ability to do the job.