About EkAnek Networks

EkAnek, as the name suggests, is one platform with many applications.

EkAnek Networks is a VC-funded startup that is building the rails of what we believe will be the next wave of eCommerce 2.0. We are tech-first, building rich buying experiences, working closely with influencers & brands and creating the necessary support infrastructure.

Our first product, FOXY, is India's first hyper-personalized beauty social commerce app. We understand that everyone's beauty and personal care needs are unique. Hence, we enable a tailor made and personalized exploration and shopping experience through our platform. We connect consumers with beauty influencers, artists and top brands.

Driven by our tech-first approach, we have recently launched a SAAS platform which helps D2C and large consumer brands launch e-commerce D2C platforms.

Founded in 2018, we are headquartered in New Delhi. We are a well-funded start-up backed by Sequoia Capital, Matrix Partners and Lightspeed Venture Partners. Our angels include Rajan Anandan, Anand Chandrasekaran, Kunal Shah, Neeraj Arora and Srini Gopalan.

Our co-founders come from diverse backgrounds, with successful track records in both, large global multinationals (McKinsey, Unilever, Airtel, Tata Group, Ibibo, PwC, Infosys) and the start-up space (OfBusiness, PayU, PayTM, etc).

About the Role

This role will be responsible for managing the pricing across all product categories within the organization. The person will work towards exploring pricing opportunities for maximizing revenue growth through managing offers, discounts, and parity vis-a-vis competition. The role will also work to improve repeat customers and retention by creating appropriate segmentation, pricing and communication frameworks. The role will also spearhead the customer loyalty program for the platform.

Ultimately, you will work closely with leaders, managers, and other executives to ensure the organization achieves its goals in revenue generation throughout the year.

- Monitor the marketplace and analyze opportunities
- Provide competitive analysis, strategies and tactics
- Stay well-connected with customers to ensure broad market needs are being incorporated into product development and enhancement cycles
- Collaborate with operations, product management, marketing and other teams to ensure seamless execution of various initiatives

Requirements

- Proven work experience in CLM, subscriber management or similar roles
- Proven track record of growing revenue through new product development, marketing, and pricing interventions
- Proven experience developing and executing business strategy

Culture @ EkAnek Networks

We are building a team of tenacious and resilient people who are passionate about tech, beauty and eCommerce. Employees are encouraged to take direct ownership of opportunities and are closely mentored by senior leadership. The team is lean, works hard and solves tough problems. We select one person to join the team for every thirty who apply. Following are the tenets of our culture.

- Performance. We have a clear measurement and support structure to deliver and measure impact. This gives clarity and ensures strong delivery is rewarded disproportionately.
- Learning. We fit the role to each person. Roles are clear and stretch growth in areas identified in development chats.
- Ownership. Every person in the team has space and the mandate to go further in their objectives and pick up other areas of interest.
- Support. Our leadership is extremely accessible and open to mentorship. We are supportive of special circumstances as well as educational opportunities.