Company Description
Lemonade (www.lemonade.shop) is a new-age multi-category luxury brand that's democratizing the access of luxury goods- an industry thats typically catered to only the affluent elite until now. We're a minimalist, millenialized luxury brand that launched in August 2022 and has done remarkably well in Year 1 of Operations in India. We launched Singapore in August 2023 and are looking at scaling our business pan-Asia. Lemonade is backed by the most marquee early stage investors globally and led by seasoned founders who have scaled consumer growth at unicorns like Zomato and Lenskart.

Role Description
The General Manager is responsible for the development and growth of Lemonade business in our three focus geographies. As the GM of either region, you will be leading efforts to roll out Lemonade's business in these markets via a mix of direct to consumer, marketplace, offline popups, and relevant brand partnerships The General Manager at Lemonade is by far the most demanding position we have to offer – requiring talent, leadership, and an entrepreneurial drive.

This is first and foremost a role for a strong marketer, focusing on reaching new users and extending the Lemonade brand to the masses. But as the region/country lead, you'll also be responsible for operational excellence and maintaining Lemonade quality throughout the customer journey. Besides user growth: Customer support, local marketing, supply chain management, service quality management, social media, PR — all of these sit under the GM. Continual improvement and a quality focus are the name of the game. Understanding the local market and delivering custom messages is important. This is where creativity meets analytics head on.

What you'll do
- Work with Lemonade's founding team to launch the business in your international market.
- You'll collect consumer insights, strategize marketing campaigns to be executed digitally, conduct in country popups and brand/influencer partnerships, and drive user acquisition + revenue growth from 0-1 journey
- In this 0-1 journey, you'll be based in New Delhi but travel to your market often. Eventually you'll relocate for the 1-10 journey.
- Before you launch the market, you will spend ~3 months getting ready with planning and budgeting, creative and advertising, establishing partnerships/ tie-ups for logistics and ecommerce supply chain.
- You'll essentially function as the CEO for the market, starting from scratch but after initial success and once the business reaches a critical mass, we'd empower you to build a small cross functional team, setup a couple of retail stores, and look for the next adjacent market/s to expand to.
- You'll be the face of the business in the market, represent the company in PR/Media, and at prominent startup events.

Skills we're looking for
- Problem Solving, Analytical Thinking
- Storytelling, knack for brand marketing
- Entrepreneurial Acumen. Ideally supported by interning at startups, or by starting clubs/ large-scale initiatives on campus
- Leadership

Roles we're recruiting for

- GM, Middle East (Saudi Arabia + UAE)
- GM, SEA (Singapore + Hong Kong)
- GM, ANZ (Australia + New Zealand)
- GM, East Asia (Taiwan + South Korea)

Application Process

- CV
- Pick one of the 4 regions. Draft a 5 slide PPT covering how you'd launch the region. Feel free to structure it the way you'd deem best. No more than 5 slides please
- All the 4 roles are open to everyone, we'd pick the best candidates agnostic of degree.

Who this GM role is ideal for

- Working in fast paced environment in entrepreneurial role for a few years and then looking to do either an MBA at a top tier college, or launch your own startup.
- Looking to build a career in the lifestyle (fashion/home) space and grow up the ranks pretty rapidly- this role gives you a headstart from the get go.

Compensation

- CTC for Undergrads: INR 8 Lacs
- CTC for Postgrads: INR 10 Lacs