Program Manager

Lumiere Education

Lumiere Education | Introduction

Lumiere Education is a rapidly growing edtech company focused on making Oxford-tutorial-like experiences possible for students around the world. The flagship Lumiere Research Scholar program allows students to work directly with a PhD student on the development of independent research, explore areas of interests beyond the classroom, and get a step ahead for college and grad school. Lumiere is committed to providing educational excellence and the company's research mentors represent the very pinnacle of their field, including Rhodes Scholars, Stanford PhDs, and researchers whose work has been cited in publications like the Economist & BBC.

About the Founders

As part of the position, you'll work with the founders. Stephen Turban is a McKinsey & Company alum, a Harvard College graduate, and a former PhD student at Harvard Business School. Dhruva Bhat is a graduate of Harvard College, a Rhodes Scholar, and a PhD student at Oxford University.

Program Manager Position

As a program manager, you will work directly with Lumiere's faculty and team members to:

- Oversee the selection and interviewing of new students
- Coordinate with students, faculty and parents during the Lumiere Research Scholar Program to ensure students have a positive experience and successfully complete the program within the given timeframes
- Identify and proactively problem-solve issues that mentors and students face during the program
- Develop systems for more effective management of the research program

In addition to managing a cohort of students, each team member works on an additional workstream/project, which is usually discussed and decided upon their joining. As a growing company, we believe in team members collaborating on different workstreams with a growth mindset. This is also an opportunity for you to explore other interests and have more dynamic work experiences!

Benefits

- Competitive salary
- Individualized mentorship & career coaching from founders
- Growth opportunities in rapidly scaling start-up
- Network-building opportunity with world-class academic and business leaders
- Flexible work timings

Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree from top university
- Excellent spoken and written English
- Strong organizational skills
- International experience (e.g. having studied, lived or worked in international contexts) is a plus
- Passion for working with young people and providing opportunities for research-based learning

Location

- We are a virtual-first team, but prefer for team members to be located between timezones GMT +2 to GMT +8

About the Lumiere Team

As a young, driven group of professionals, the Lumiere team believes in hard work and creative problem solving. We recognize the need to support each other in achieving our growth goals. Being results-driven, we have benefitted immensely from having quantitative metrics in place to assess our individual development and that of the larger team. We're also a rather fun bunch (even if we do say so ourselves) and enjoy celebrating each other and our wins!

Lumiere's Diversity and Inclusion Statement - Come As You Are

Learning begins with embracing diversity. Lumiere's vision is to empower students to reach their full potential. We are committed to engaging with diverse disciplines, perspectives, and experiences. Our organization values your unique voice and everything that it brings to the table. So, come as you are.

As a team of lifelong learners, inclusivity and equity are foundational to the way we educate, operate, and build partnerships with communities and institutions.

Apply Here

To apply for this position, please fill out the application form. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Please reach out to careers@lumiere.education with any questions.