About The Circle

We're a non-profit start-up with a small yet growing team of motivated individuals, who are collectively working to reinvent India’s schools. We are building a network of schools and after-school centres that are offering kids from low-income households expanded opportunities to succeed and change the world. We run two flagship programs:

The Circle Incubation: The two-year Circle Incubation selects and equips entrepreneurs to design, launch, and run reinvented schools and after-school centres.

The Circle Labs: We run short-term, low-touch programs to build capacity and readiness, raise awareness, and cultivate communities interested in reimagining education.

Our Four Commitments

Commitment to Equity: We believe that we must be serving students who are from India’s underserved communities.

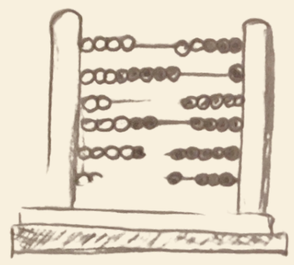

Commitment to Community: We believe that we must design in partnership with communities and kids.

Commitment to a Holistic Vision: Our education system has, for too long, been rooted in the acceleration of the self. We believe in an education system that embodies a commitment to self, other and India.

Commitment to Results: We believe that whatever we do, it has to lead to measurable results for kids and families.
